Ebner of Marlton tabbed as new NJAHU president

June 4, 2011 8:00 am

Wendy Ebner has been named President of the New Jersey Association of Health Underwriters (NJAHU), the group announced today. The statewide organization represents licensed health insurance agents, brokers, consultants and benefit professionals in New Jersey who service the health insurance needs of large and small employers as well as individuals.

Ebner, the Director of Business Development for Savoy Associates in Hamilton, is exceptionally qualified for the position of President; she has served as President of the South Chapter of the NJAHU and currently serves as NJAHU President-Elect and conference chair. Her term will run from July 1, 2011 through June 30, 2012.

“The NJAHU will continue to ensure the role of the broker as navigator for information about health insurance in New Jersey,” Ebner said. “More than ever, we have the opportunity to be a part of the solution. While the debate over healthcare reform has often sought to scapegoat the insurance industry, we are working to show that the rising cost of medical care is the primary reason the cost of health insurance continues to rise.”

The NJAHU will continue to advocate for creative solutions to help consumers in the healthcare market, according to Ebner. “Promoting wellness in the population and introducing new models of healthcare, such as Accountable Care Organizations, can help to slow the growth of healthcare spending,” Ebner said. “There is not one answer; we need to engage the problem on a number of levels.”

Ebner lives in Marlton with her husband, Mark, and their two sons. When she’s not at work or at an NJAHU meeting or event, she is active in Marlton youth sporting events, including watching her sons’ baseball teams.
